CONSULTING FIRM FOR NONPROFIT ORGANIZATIONS ADDS NEW CONSULTANTS

Seeds for Change Consulting, LLC, an Austin-based firm founded in 2004, is expanding with the addition of two new consultants – Gina Budd and August W. Harris, III.

Gina Budd brings more than 18 years of in-depth experience in marketing, public relations and event planning to Seeds for Change. Budd has helped numerous companies with communications strategies, including nonprofits, small businesses large healthcare organizations, and publicly traded companies. Her past experience with nonprofit clients such as People’s Community Clinic and Sister Cities International, coupled with her corporate and agency experience, will enable her to contribute progressive communications strategies to her Seeds for Change clients.

August W. Harris, III comes to Seeds for Change with extensive financial and real estate experience. A native Austinite, Harris brings more than 25 years of nonprofit board and community service, including current leadership roles with Leadership Austin, Heritage Society of Austin, Austin Chamber of Commerce and West Austin Neighborhood Group. Harris will provide Seeds for Change clients with strategic consulting in major giving campaigns, financial management and government relations.

Seeds for Change founder Stacy Ehrlich continues to manage the firm and work on select Seeds for Change projects. She was also recently named Chief Development Officer for Easter Seals Central Texas where she is responsible for strategically restructuring the development department to maximize its potential.

Seeds for Change Consulting, LLC provides full wrap around, customized services to nonprofit organizations in the key areas of consulting, compliance, writing and events. The Austin-based team consists of nine partners, each with over ten years of relevant nonprofit experience. In addition to Ehrlich, Budd and Harris, team partners include Bergan Casey (communications), Kori Gough (special events), Stephanie Limb (grant writing and compliance), Amy Nunn (grant writing), Benita Trevino (project management) and Carlene Wegmann-Todd (online strategies). An additional five consultants from across Texas and the country support the Austin team and work on special projects as needed. In any given year Seeds for Change works with 20 to 30 clients in Central Texas and across the country. Fall 2011 clients are diverse in size and mission and include KIPP Austin, My Healing Place, GENAustin, FATE, Narcolepsy Network (NY), Interfaith Education Fund, and Yuba River Charter School (Nevada City, CA).

Seeds for Change continues to search for highly qualified, dynamic professional consultants to join its expanding team. For information on the firm and its postings, see www.seedsforchangeconsulting.com.
